Vin Lananna was named the Director of Track and Field and Cross Country/Associate Athletics Director for Administration in September of 2019, joining the Cavaliers as one of the most respected and successful track and field and cross country coaches in the country.

For his contributions to the sport of track & field/cross country, Lananna was honored with the 2025 USATF Legend Coach Award and the annual Robert Giegengack Award as the 2025 recipient presented by USA Track and Field (USATF).

The 2025 Cross Country season did not disappoint for the Cavaliers as the men's team won the fifth ACC Cross Country team title in program history scoring a total of 61 points to narrowly beat Syracuse in second place with 65 points. Gary Martin finished runner-up in the men's 8k race to lead four Cavaliers to All-ACC honors including Brett Gardner, Nate Mountain and Justin Wachtel. The women's team finished fifth as Tatum David and Gillian Bushee earned All-ACC accolades. Both men's and women's teams qualified for the NCAA Cross Country Championships through at-large bid selections after third and fourth place team finishes at the NCAA Southeast Regional at Panorama Farms.

At the NCAA Cross Country Championships, Martin recorded a new personal best time to finish seventh overall and earn his second consecutive cross country All-America honors. For the second straight year, Martin recorded the highest individual finish by a Virginia man at the NCAA meet after a 13th place finish a year ago. The Virginia men recorded a seventh place team finish with a total of 303 points for the second highest team finish in program history and the highest since 1984. The Virginia women finished 24th with a total of 558 points. Lananna was named USTFCCCA Southeast Region Men's Coach of the Year for an outstanding fall season.

The Virginia women's track & field team won the 2025 ACC Outdoor Championship for the first time since 1987 and just the sixth time in program history. The Cavaliers scored a total of 93 points and brought home four ACC Champions including Margot Appleton (1500m), Christiana Ellina (JT), Celia Rifaterra (HJ) and Jenny Schilling (10,000m). Appleton won her third consecutive 1500m crown while Schilling won her first ACC title in her ACC Outdoor debut. Rifaterra led a 1-2 finish by the Cavaliers as Carly Tarentino finished runner-up. At the NCAA Outdoor Championships, Appleton finished runner-up in the 1500m while Schilling earned honorable mention honors. On the men's side Gary Martin and Will Daley garnered All-America accolades. Martin finished fourth in the 1500m while Daley finished 13th in the 5000m.

The outdoor season included Appleton recording the fourth fastest time in collegiate history over 1500m clocking 4:05.68 and the women's distance medley relay (DMR) team of Tatum David, Ariel Fletcher, Annie Jackson and Appleton won the College Women's Championships of America wheel at the Penn Relays combining efforts to run the third fastest time in collegiate history (10:42.16). For an outstanding season, Lananna was named the Women's ACC Outdoor Coach of the Year.

The 2024-25 indoor season proved successful as the Cavalier men finished second and the women fourth in the team standings at the ACC Indoor Championships. Distance duo of Wes Porter and Martin earned spots on the podium. Martin won the 3000m and finished third in the 5000m while Porter secured the bronze in the mile. On the women's side, Appleton the mile and finished third in the 3000m while Sophie Atkinson earned second team honors in the 5000m. Under Lananna's direction, the Virginia men's distance medley relay (DMR) team of Alex Sherman, Conor Murphy, Martin and Porter broke the NCAA, ACC, program, Randal Tyson facility, and Arkansas Qualifier meet records clocking 9:14.19. The same quartet went on to win the first NCAA Indoor title in the event in program history. Lananna also led Martin to a record setting year including breaking the NCAA record in the indoor 1500m (3:33.41), running the second fastest time in collegiate history in the mile (3:48.82) and a runner-up finish in the 3000m at the NCAA Indoor Championships. Lananna led the Cavalier men to a sixth-place team finish at the 2025 NCAA DI Indoor Championships, the best finish on the men's side in program history and Lananna garnered USTFCCCA Southeast Region Men's Coach of the Year.

In the fall of 2024, the Virginia men's and women's cross country teams garnered much success on the course including two All-Americans and one ACC Individual Champion. The season was highlighted by 2024 ACC Performer of the Year, Gary Martin. The junior became just the third Virginia man to win the ACC individual title at the Championships alongside Ryan Foster (2008) and Emil Keineking (2009, 2010). Martin smashed the School Record and ACC Championship Record clocking 22:17.6 for 8k. He went on to garner All-American honors with a 13th place finish at the NCAA Championships along with Margot Appleton who crossed the line in 18th place to also earn accolades. Both Appleton and Martin earned to their first All-American status in cross country.

Lananna led both men's and women's programs to automatic bids to the NCAA Cross Country Championships where the women finished 14th and the men in 21st place overall. At the ACC Championships, both programs finished fourth while Gary Martin ran away with the individual victory on the men's side. The Cavaliers racked up five All-ACC selections including Will Anthony, Nate Mountain, Jenny Schilling, Appleton and Martin. Success on the course did not stop there as the Virginia men won the NCAA Southeast Regional with four All-Southeast Region honorees including Andrew Jones, Anthony, Martin and Mountain. The women recorded a runner-up finish while also tallying four All-Region accolades including Sophie Atkinson, Gillian Bushee, Appleton and Schilling.

Another highlight this season was Martin's performance at the Panorama Farms Invitational. For the 8k race, Martin recorded the fifth fastest time ever on the course to secure the win. Not far behind was Anthony recording the 20th fastest time on the course in Earlysville, Va.

The 2023-2024 track & field season was record setting for the Cavaliers. The Virginia men won the first ACC Outdoor Conference Championships team title (outright) scoring a total of 107 points. Nate Mountain won back-to-back gold medals in the men's 3000 meter steeplechase followed by teammate Yasin Sado who won the silver, leading the Cavaliers to go 1-2 in the event for the second straight year. At the NCAA Outdoor Championships, the Virginia men finished inside the top-10 as a team scoring a total 26 points to finish eighth overall. Shane Cohen won the the NCAA 800 meter title in a blistering 1:44.97 to become just the second collegiate athlete to record a sub-1:45 time for 800 meters this season. Mountain raced his way to a NCAA runner-up performance in the men's 3000 meter steeplechase pulling along his teammate in Sado to a seventh place finish. Jacob Lemmon and Wes Porter also earned first team All-American honors finishing fourth and sixth in the discus and 1500 meters.

Both Virginia men's and women's team finished in the top three as a team at the ACC Outdoor Championships as the women finished third scoring a total 74 points. Margot Appleton won back-to-back gold medals in the women's 1500 meter run before going on to earn the silver medal in the women's 5000 meters. Appleton earned first team All-American honors at the NCAA Outdoor Championships with her fourth place finish in the women's 5000 meters. At the ACC Outdoor Championships, 24 All-ACC accolades were earned by the Cavaliers between men and women.

The Cavaliers are known for showing up each time they step on the track and the 2024 Penn Relays was a prime example. The 4x1500m relay team of Will Anthony, Gary Martin, Wes Porter and Yasin Sado etched their name in the record books recording the No.2 time in collegiate history and No.4 time in the world. The quartet clocked 15:52.30 to dip under the previous collegiate record and set the Virginia record in the event.

The Indoor season was highlighted by the men's and women's distance medley relay (DMR). The men's team of Alex Leath, Wes Porter, Alex Sherman and Yasin Sado finished third at the NCAA Indoor Championships for the best finish by the Cavaliers since a sixth place finish in 2015. Continuing to show their depth, the relay team of James Donahue, Shane Cohen, Jaden Lyons and Wes Porter won gold at the ACC Indoor Championships. A third contingent of Cavaliers including Gary Martin, Alex Leath, Conor Murphy and Alex Sherman combined efforts to record the No.4 time all-time collegially and set the Virginia record with their time of 9:18.95. At the time, this was the best time in the ACC and second best in the NCAA. Gary Martin ran the fastest split in the NCAA that weekend clocking 3:51.94 for 1600 meters.

The Virginia women also impressed in the DMR as the quartet set the program record three times in a single season. Margot Appleton, Alahna Sabbakhan, Caroline Timm and Anna Workman started the season setting the record at 10:55.4. Before the group of Maggie Hock, Appleton, Sabbakhan and Workman lowered the record running 10:52.22. When it mattered most, Appleton, Hock, Sabbakhan and Workman showed up and recorded the third school record of the season at 10:50.58 to finish runner-up at the ACC Indoor Championships. At the ACC Indoor Championships, 10 Hoos earned first team All-ACC honors while 13 earned second team All-ACC accolades between both men's and women's teams.

The 2023 cross country season was a landmark campaign for the Cavalier program. In the fall of 2020, just more than a year after Lannanna's arrival, the NCAA announced that Virginia would host the 2023 NCAA Division I Men's and Women's Cross Country Championships, marking the first time it would do that since 1987 when the meet was run at the Foxfield Course. Over 30 years latter, the meet returned to Charlottesville and was met with extraordinary excitement from the local community. The meet sold out with approximately 5,000 tickets distributed as an enthusiastic crowd provided an exceptional backdrop to a pair of tightly contested races.

Both Virginia's men's and women's teams qualified for the NCAA Championships for the second-consecutive season—marking the first time both programs made the field in back-to-back years since the 2014 and 2015 championships. Virginia's path to the championships was a difficult one. The Cavaliers hosted a pair of the nation's toughest meets at their home course including the Virginia Invitational, and XC23 Pre-National. That strength of schedule proved a major factor as both Cavalier teams qualified for the championships via at-large selections, the first time both programs have done that in the same season since 2006.

Virginia's indoor campaign in 2023 saw three student-athletes earn All-American status at the NCAA Championships where Owayne Owens placed third in the triple jump with a personal-best mark, Margot Appleton finished fourth in the women's mile, and Conor Murphy took sixth in the men's mile.

Seven Virginia records were broken over the course of the season including the men's and women's DMR, women's 3000m (Margot Appleton), men's 5000m (Derek Johnson), men's mile (Conor Murphy), women's 800m (Esther Seeland) and Alix Still (Pentathlon).

The highlight of Virginia's regular season in 2023 took place at Boston University's David Hemery Valentine Invitational when five different milers on the men's side broke four minutes in the mile on the same day (Conor Murphy, Wes Porter, Gary Martin, Nate Mountain, James Donahue). Murphy set the Virginia record at 3:55.24 while Gary Martin set the UVA freshman record at 3:56.83. Just one day prior, Esther Seeland set the Virginia 800m record at 2:03.43.

The 2022 cross country season was highlighted by an impressive showing from the Virginia women. After placing third at the ACC Championships and earning an at-large bid to the NCAA Championships in Stillwater, Oklahoma, the team raced to a ninth-place finish marking the fifth time the women's program has cracked the top-10 and accomplished the feat for the first time since the 2013 season. The Virginia men qualified automatically for the championships thanks to their second-place finish at the Southeast Regional Championships and placed 22nd overall at the NCAA meet.

In the 2022 outdoor season the Cavalier men recorded their highest finish since the 2017 season and their third-best finish all-time as the Hoos took 14th place with 18 points.

The season was highlighted by junior Claudio Romero who won the NCAA discus title, the first men's individual title since the 2017 season. The NCAA and ACC Champion was named the ACC Men's Field Athlete of the Year becoming just the third Virginia competitor to garner the honor. Two weeks later, Ethan Dabbs claimed the javelin title at the USTF Outdoor Championships following a second-place finish at the NCAA Championships. The UVA men and women saw 6 competitors finish with All-American honors. The Hoos combined for two individual All-American honors as well as the women's DMR squad at the NCAA Indoor Championships.

The Virginia men placed third at the ACC Championships for the second-consecutive season marking the sixth time in seven years that the Hoos have finished in the league's top three. The Cavalier women placed seventh at the outdoor championships where Maria Deaviz took the shot put title.

The UVA had two champions at the ACC indoor meet where the women finished fifth while the men placed 10th.

Virginia's Rohann Asfaw and Derek Johnson each picked up all-region honors during the 2021 cross country campaign.

In his second season at the helm, Lananna saw the UVA women tied for 16th at the NCAA Outdoor Championships, the program's best finish since 1983. Combined with the men's finish (28th), it is the best overall program showing at the NCAA Championships in program history.

The season's highlight was graduate student Michaela Meyer winning the 800-meter championship at the NCAA Championships, the first individual title in the women's program's history. Meyer went on to be named the ACC's Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

At the NCAA Outdoor Championships, eight women earned All-America status in 12 events while five men did the same. UVA had three women earn All-American status at the Indoor championships, the most since 2011.

The UVA women finished third at the ACC Indoor Championships to record their best result in 26 years. UVA won seven ACC Outdoor individual titles and two indoor championships. UVA sent 36 competitors to the NCAA East Preliminary Championships, the most in program history.

In his first season at the helm of the UVA track and field and cross country teams, the Cavalier men made their 17th NCAA Cross Country Championship appearance, earning the automatic berth to the national meet with a first-place finish at the NCAA Southeast Regional Championships. All five of UVA men's scoring runners earned All-Southeast Region honors for their performance at the regional meet.

The 2020 team received an at-large invitation to the Championships held in 2021.

During his first indoor season, five Cavaliers earned All-America honors for qualifying for the NCAA Indoor Championships as Jada Seaman and Khyasia Caldwell qualified in the women's long jump, Jordan Scott and Owayne Owens qualified in the men's triple jump, and Brenton Foster qualified in the men's high jump. Scott led the NCAA in the triple jump, capturing the 17th-best all-time jump by a performer in NCAA history. His leap of 17.20m (55'10.25") set an ACC and UVA record. Scott was named the USTFCCA Southeast Regional Field Athlete of the Year, the ACC Field Athlete of the Year, and the ACC Field Athlete of the Meet.

The men's team finished third at the ACC Championships, with four Cavaliers winning ACC titles. The men's team set five school records during the season. On the women's side, Seaman and Caldwell finished 1-2 at ACCs in the long jump. The women's team set four UVA records during the season.

During the 2021 indoor season, the Cavalier women posted their best finish (third) at the ACC Championships since 1995. A total of nine Cavalier individuals and one relay team earned All-ACC honors during the meet, the most ever for the program since the championship started in 1987.

Owens won the ACC triple jump crown and went on to earn first-team All-America honors at the NCAA Championships where he placed sixth. Seaman repeated as the conference long jump champ and placed 12th at the NCAA meet. Sprinter Halle Hazzard also earned first-team All-America accolades at the NAAs with an eighth-place showing in the 60-meter dash.

Building highly-successful programs has been a big part of Lananna's impact on the sport.

Under his direction, the teams at Stanford and Oregon combined to win 11 NCAA team championships and produced numerous NCAA individual champions, conference champions, and Olympic medalists. He has led teams to 42 conference championships for three-plus decades as a head coach.

A five-time NCAA cross country coach of the year, Lananna was inducted into the United States Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association's Hall of Fame in 2012.

In his last collegiate head coaching stint, Lananna led the Oregon program for seven seasons (2005-12). During his tenure, Oregon won six NCAA titles (2007-08 men's cross country, 2009 men's indoor track and field, 2010-11-12 women's indoor track and field) and 13 conference titles (2006-07-08 men's cross country, 2007-08-09-10-11-12 men's track and field, 2009-10-11-12 women's track and field). He also coached several Olympians and numerous NCAA and Pac-12 event champions.

Lananna was named the 2012 Pac-12 men's and women's coach of the year for the third time at Oregon and was previously honored as the 2007 and 2008 national men's cross country coach of the year. He also served as Team USA's head coach for the 2011 IAAF World Championships and was the co-chair for both the 2008 and 2012 U.S. Olympic Team Trials, hosted at Oregon's Hayward Field.

Following his resignation as the director of track and field and cross country in September of 2012, Lananna remained a member of the Ducks' athletic administration as an associate athletic director, a position he held since coming to Eugene in 2005. Valeanu notched second team All-ACC honors in the shot put and discus throw. Over the course of the season, Kelly broke the Virginia record in the women's hammer throw three times. On the men's side, Davis brought home the silver medal throwing the No.5 mark in school history in the hammer throw.

The indoor season was highlighted by Jeremiah Nubbe and his fourth place finish in the weight throw at the NCAA Indoor Championships to earn first team All-America honors. Nubbe won the ACC Indoor Championship title in the weight throw followed by his teammate, Davis, winning the bronze in the weight throw. Virginia throwers that earned All-ACC honors include John Fay (WT), Brooke Lumpkin (SP), Davis (WT) and Nubbe (WT).

During his first year in Charlottesville, Amo led three throwers to NCAA Outdoor appearances. Jacob Lemmon finished sixth in the men's discus throw to earn First Team All-American honors while John Fay and Janae Profit earned Honorable Mention accolades for their performances in the men's hammer throw and women's shot put. Amo led a contingent of Cavaliers to All-ACC honors as Jacob Lemmon earned the silver medal in the discus and John Fay garnered bronze in the hammer throw to earn First Team status. Brooke Lumpkin (SP), Janae Profit (SP) and Tyler Zawatski (JT) garnered Second Team All-ACC honors with their performance at the conference meet.

The Virginia men won the first ACC Championship team title for the first time outright in program history scoring a total 107 points before going on to finish eighth as a team at the NCAA Outdoor Championships with 26 points.

During his only season in Cambridge, Amo led Kenneth Ikeji and Stephanie Ratcliffe to a sweep of the NCAA hammer throw titles as each set collegiate-leading marks in the process. In all, Amo led three Crimson throwers to first-team All-American honors as Estel Valeanu placed sixth in the discus.

Under the direction of Amo, the Crimson throwers were a crucial piece of Harvard's sweep of the 2023 Ivy League team titles. The Harvard women's throwers accounted for 51 points from their events while the men racked up a total of 40. Between both men and women, Amo's throwers secured six gold medals at the conference championships.

Amo competed as a thrower at Rhode Island where he graduated with a degree in biological sciences and kinesiology in 2018. At Rhode Island, Amo was the 2018 A-10 Champion in the hammer throw and a two-time A-10 champion in the weight throw (2017, 2018). He was also the conference runner-up in the weight throw in 2016.

In addition to his coaching resume within the NCAA, Amo also founded the RISE Athletics developmental program, through which he has coached athletes of all different ages with the primary goal of helping young throwers achieve their goals of competing at the collegiate level. Through his involvement with the program, Amo has had the opportunity to work with USA trials qualifiers as well as Olympic qualifiers.

ASSISTANT TRACK AND FIELD COACH (SPRINTS/HURDLES)

LaRon Bennett joined the Virginia program in the fall of 2021 to coach the sprints, hurdles and relays for the Cavaliers. He came to UVA after heading up the program at Belhaven University (Jackson, Miss.) from 2019 to 2021.

The 2025 outdoor season proved successful for the Cavalier sprint and hurdle group as Alex Sherman earned the bronze medal and first team All-ACC honors and honorable mention All-America accolades in the mens 400m hurdles. Sherman took down the program record in the event clocking 49.98 at the ACC Outdoor Championships. Freshman Maya Rollins made a statement at her first ACC Outdoor Championships winning the silver medal in the women's 100m hurdles and earn first team All-ACC. Rollins owns the Virginia freshman record and ranks No.3 all-time in the event at 13.33. Sarah Akpan (200m) and Emily Alexandru (400m hurdles) contributed valuable points to the Virginia women's team title victory. The Cavalier women scored 93 points to win the ACC Championship crown, the first since 1987 and just the sixth team title in program history. Under Bennett's direction, seven Cavaliers earned All-ACC accolades between the indoor and outdoor seasons.

The 2024-25 indoor season saw the fastest distance medley relay run by the Cavaliers at 9:14.19. With Sherman contributing on the 400m leg, the quartet broke the NCAA record, ACC record, Virginia record, Randal Tyson facility record, and Arkansas Qualifier meet record. The same four went on to win the first NCAA Indoor title in the DMR to earn first team All-America accolades. Led by Bennett, the 4x400m relay team of Evans White IV, Max Russo, Gage Gose and Sherman broke the school record twice in one season. At the ACC Indoor Championships, the duo of Peter Djan and Ethan Robinson made the 60m hurdles final where they finished fourth and fifth.

During the 2024-23 season, Bennett led two athletes to outdoor All-ACC accolades in Alex Sherman and Sarah Akpan. Sherman earned the silver medal at the ACC Outdoor Championships in the 400m hurdles and qualified for the NCAA East Preliminary round and the 2024 US Olympic Team Trials. Sarah Akpan doubled in the 100m and 200m, earning all conference honors in both events. The Virginia men won the first ACC Outdoor Championships team title for the first time outright in program history with a total 107 points.

The 2023-24 indoor season saw an impressive distance medley relay (DMR) performance by Gary Martin, Alex Leath, Alex Sherman and Conor Murphy at the Arkansas Qualifier. The quartet set the Virginia record and ran fourth-fastest time in collegiate history clocking a blistering 9:18.95. Under Bennetts' leadership, Sherman was also member of Virginia's third place DMR team at the NCAA Indoor Championships.

During the 2022 outdoor season, Jada Seaman advanced to the NCAA Championships in the 200 meters after running personal bests in both the prelims (23.06) and finals (23.00). At the ACC Championships, Jordan Willis took second place while setting the Virginia 400m record with his time of 45.70.

In his first season with the UVA sprints and hurdles program, Bennett guided Jordan Willis to an All-ACC finish in the 400m meters indoors while coaching the 4x400 meter squad to a school-record performance at the Tiger Paw Invitational (3:11.64). On the women's side, Bennet guided Jada Seaman to a third-place finish in the 200m at the ACC Indoor Championships as well as a second-team All-ACC place in the 60 meters.

At Division III Bellhaven, Bennett served as the director of track and field and cross country. He managed all aspects of the program, saw the program host its first home meet and the American Southwest Conference Outdoor Championships, and was involved in the development and planning for a $1.8 million outdoor track facility. In just three seasons, his student-athletes posted 20 all-time top-10 school performances, two All-American and conference champions and seven were ranked in the top-10 national performance lists.

From 2012 to 2017, Bennett was on the staff at Drake, serving as the Bulldogs interim co-head coach in his final season in Des Moines (Iowa). During his tenure, Drake student-athletes earned nine Missouri Valley Conference (MVC) Elite 18 awards, given on the basis of the highest GPA combined with the highest event finisher at the conference meet. He coached nine student-athletes in NCAA first round competition with four MVC champions.

LARON BENNETT

Bennett started his coaching path at his alma mater, Georgia, where he worked as a volunteer assistant. During his tenure with the Bulldogs he coached two SEC champions and 18 All-Americans.

While competing at Georgia, Bennett was a three-time All-American in the 400-meter hurdles (2003-2005) and team captain for one of the top squads in the country.

Bennett competed in the 400-meter hurdles in four United States Olympic Trials (2004, 2008, 2012, 2016) with a semifinal appearance in 2012. He was a silver medalist in the 4x400 relay and a bronze medalist in the 400-meter hurdles at the 2007 Pan American Games in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. He finished sixth in the 400-meter hurdles at the USATF Championships in 2010.

In addition, Rousseau was also a member of the MIT Sports Performance staff, where he worked with student-athletes from across the Institute's 33 intercollegiate programs.

In the 2022-23 season, Rousseau's athletes captured a pair of NCAA individual national championships as Kenneth Wei earned the indoor long jump title and Enoch Ellis captured the 110-meter hurdle championship at the outdoor championship meet. At the conclusion of the season, Rousseau was named as the USTFCCA Men's Outdoor Track and Field National Assistant Coach of the Year.

In his first season with the Engineers, Rousseau was honored as the USTFCCA East Region Men's Indoor Track and Field Assistant Coach of the Year and in 2018-19, Yorai Shaoul captured the NCAA indoor and outdoor triple jump national
